CORRIERE CANADESE

The Canadian Italian News

Le quotidien canadien italien

Corriere Canadese has been an established part of Toronto life for more than 50 years and is the city's 3rd oldest daily newspaper. Founded by Dan Iannuzzi as a weekly in 1954, Corriere is now published six days per week — Monday through Saturday. Its daily circulation of 30,000 serves close to 100,000 Italo-Canadians each day. Corriere sets a high editorial standard with strong message awareness, ensured by higher editorial-to-ad ratios than any newspaper in any other language. Such standards enable Corriere to be the newspaper of record of the Italian-Canadian community.
